Subject: Response to Information Request for Capstone Research Project ("PAULA")

Dear Researchers,

Peace and blessings in the Spirit of St. Paul!

The PBMO acknowledges receipt of your request regarding public and non-sensitive information, general guidelines, and frequently asked questions for the Publications, Brand, and Marketing Office. We support your capstone research entitled "PAULA: Paulinian Artificial User Support and Learning Assistant."

Below is the verified information, general procedures, and frequently asked questions regarding our services and operations to serve as an official reference for your proposed knowledge base:

Official Office Information, FAQs, and Procedures

1. Publication and Documentation Services

- Q: What services are provided by the Publication, Brand, and Marketing Office (PBMO)?

A: PBMO is responsible for designing, editing, and publishing official university publications (e.g., 1st Semester President's Report, The PauliGlobe student publication for Basic and Higher Education, and annual Yearbooks). The office also oversees university branding, manages digital media pipelines (including official social media platforms and the Unified Multimedia Communication Network), produces institutional marketing/promotional materials, and documents major university events and heritage milestones.

2. Procedures for Requesting or Submitting Materials for Publication

- Q: What is the procedure for submitting materials or reporting school events for publication?

A: Submit the complete details of the article/event following the standard 5Ws and 1H framework (Who, What, When, Where, Why, and How) along with high-resolution photos/media via email or soft copy to PBMO. Per institutional policy, employees attending school-funded seminars, conventions, or external trainings are required to submit these standard reporting details directly to PBMO for official publication, tracking, and inclusion in the President's Report.

3. Guidelines for University-Related Announcements and Promotional Materials

- Q: How are announcements and promotional materials broadcast across the campus?

A: PBMO utilizes the Unified Multimedia Communication Network—comprising outdoor LED displays, Campus TV monitors, social media channels, and the web portal—to broadcast real-time news, institutional announcements, emergency advisories, and updates from civic/government partners. All promotional assets, announcements, and posters must undergo content and brand review by PBMO prior to broadcast or posting.

4. Branding and Proper Use of University Assets

- Q: What are the guidelines regarding official university logos, seals, and brand materials?

A: Official logo files, color palettes, and typography rules must be requested directly from PBMO. The official university name, logo, seal, and related branding assets must not be modified, stretched, recolored, or combined with unauthorized graphic elements. All materials meant for public consumption must adhere to the official SPUS brand identity standards.

5. Requesting Documentation or Coverage of University Events

- Q: How can departments or student organizations request event photo/video coverage?

A: Submit a formal written or electronic request addressed to the PBMO Director at least three (3) to five (5) working days before the scheduled event, outlining the event title, date, time, venue, and requested deliverables. For official graduation pictorials and yearbook documentation, PBMO coordinates directly with approved outsourced service providers under designated schedules.

6. General Guidelines for Submitting Information or Materials for Posting

- Q: How far in advance should materials be submitted for digital or portal posting?

A: Submissions for official social media posts or student portal updates should be turned in at least two (2) working days prior to the target publishing date to allow adequate time for review, layout verification, and scheduling.

7. Office Hours and Service Schedules

- Q: What are the operating hours of the Publication, Brand, and Marketing Office?

A:
Monday to Friday: 8:00 AM – 12:00 NN | 1:30 PM – 5:00 PM
Saturday: 8:00 AM – 12:00 PM
Sunday & Institutional Holidays: Closed

Please note that these attached documents and assets are provided strictly for research and academic development purposes within the scope of your PAULA capstone project. They must not be misplaced, shared with unauthorized parties, or utilized for any other purpose outside this approved research. We expect your team to treat these materials with the utmost respect and confidentiality.

We hope this information assists in developing a reliable knowledge base for the PAULA system.

Best of luck with your capstone project!

Yours in Christ,
